Use this appeals form if you are a fall 2016 freshman applicant who has been admitted to an alternate college at the University of Minnesota Twin Cities, and is appealing your college of admission decision.

About the college of admission appeal
A student's college choice is taken into consideration in our admission review, and each student's application is reviewed for the colleges they have listed on their applications, in the order in which they are listed. If we are not able to offer admission to the first-choice college, we consider applicants for admission to another University of Minnesota college that matches their academic interests and preparation.

An appeal of a college of admission decision is a request for a different decision, on the basis of new information that was not initially included in a student's application. Appeals should include new information that was not previously shared at the point of application.

Please note: While we greatly respect and appreciate that many of our applicants are passionate about their interest in a specific college or program within the University of Minnesota, demonstrated interest is not the basis for a successful appeal. Submitting an appeal, visiting campus, or demonstrating interest in other ways will not impact the committee's decision because ‘demonstrated interest’ is not a factor considered in our holistic admission review.

Instructions for submitting an appeal:
A complete appeal must be submitted in writing by the applicant (not an applicant’s agent, parent, counselor, or other advocate) and must include the student’s most recent official transcript or grade report. A complete appeal includes:
• Discussion with a University of Minnesota admissions counselor at 612-625-2008 or 1-800-752-1000 (TTY for hearing impaired: 612-625-9051). A discussion is required to review the appeal process and to explain the admission decision that was rendered in our original holistic review of the application.
• A completed Waitlist Appeal Form.
• Most recent, official high school transcript or grade report with most recent grades, including any Post-Secondary Enrollment Option (PSEO) or College in the Schools (CIS) grades.
• Typed answers to questions A and B on the College of Admission Appeals Form.

If you choose to submit a letter of recommendation, the committee will review it. However, we must note that letters of recommendation speaking to an applicant's personal qualities will be considered as only one component of an appeal review. Decisions are not made solely on the basis of an individual letter of recommendation or a specific recommender.

Admission to each of the University’s seven freshman-admitting colleges is very competitive, and the number of spaces available varies by college. Applicants are automatically considered for admission to all U of M colleges that are a good fit with the academic interest(s) listed on their applications. Admission decisions are based on a comprehensive, individualized review of a student's application, the overall strength of the applications received, and the number of spaces available.
Frequently Asked Questions

What factors do you consider when making an admission decision?

We believe that selecting students from a highly talented group of applicants requires an individual assessment of all application materials submitted for each student; every application is read in its entirety.

Admission decisions are based on a very careful, overall assessment of each student’s academic preparation and performance, as well as the additional information provided in the application, based on the primary and secondary factors listed below. The strongest consideration in the decision is given to the primary factors, and no single factor is the deciding factor in the decision. Applicants are automatically considered for admission to all U of M colleges that are a good fit with their academic interests and preparation.

Primary review factors
- Coursework through high school graduation (Admitted students typically exceed the University’s subject requirements)
- Grade point average
- Class rank (if available)
- ACT or SAT scores

Secondary review factors
Individual circumstances such as those listed below are also considered as part of the overall assessment of each application and may factor into individual decisions.

They include:
- Outstanding talent, achievement, or aptitude in a particular area
- An exceptionally rigorous academic curriculum (enrollment in honors, AP, IB, or college level courses)
- Strong commitment to community service and leadership
- Military service
- Evidence of having overcome social, economic, or physical barriers to educational achievement
- First-generation college student
- Significant responsibility in a family, community, job, or activity
- Family employment or attendance at the University of Minnesota
- Contribution to the cultural, gender, age, economic, racial, or geographic diversity of the student body
- Extenuating circumstances

How do I appeal my college of admission?

A complete appeal must be submitted in writing by the applicant, and must include the student’s most recent grades. The applicant may also submit letters of support from teachers, counselors, and other individuals who can speak to their academic and personal characteristics.

A complete appeal includes:
- A completed College of Admission Appeals Form (see last page)
- Your current high school transcript or grade report with your most recent grades, including any Post Secondary Education Option (PSEO) or College in the Schools (CIS) grades
- Your typed answers to questions A, B, & C on the College of Admission Appeals Form (see last page)
- Letters of recommendation/support (optional; see description above)
