Admission decisions are based on a very careful, overall assessment of each student’s academic preparation and performance, as well as the additional information provided in the application, based on the academic and context factors listed at z.umn.edu/intladminfresh. No single factor is the deciding factor in the decision. The University of Minnesota does not have automatic criteria or minimums (cut-offs) for admission.

Students in IB programs may receive eight semester credits for most higher-level subjects passed with a grade of five or higher. AP scores of three or higher may earn credits. Some A-Level or AS-Level courses may also receive credits. For more, see z.umn.edu/transfercreditev.

Dear Future Gophers,

During this challenging time, it’s difficult to predict what the world and the University of Minnesota will look like when you start your university experience. But we do know one thing – we want you here!

As the pandemic spread around the world, we saw so many examples of how much the University of Minnesota cares. To care for our community, researchers created inexpensive ventilators, expanded testing, and studied treatment options. To care for our students, all student services were moved online, student employees continued to be paid, and residence halls were kept open for students who had nowhere else to live.

Moving forward, the University has chosen a “hybrid” model of instruction that includes in-person, online, and remote learning opportunities. This model allows for flexibility in meeting the needs of all students—including you!

We know you have lots of questions. We are here to help provide answers and guide you along your journey of studying in the U.S.

We hope to see you in Minnesota soon!
